Baroque Ensemble NEW DUTCH ACADEMY Chamber Soloists PLAY!

18th Century Rock and Roll!

Baroque Ensemble NEW DUTCH ACADEMY Chamber Soloists PLAY!

Step into the world of the 18th century, listening to famous Baroque composers like Bach, Vivaldi and Telemann, being performed live on authentic period instruments. Introduce your kids to Baroque Music with the lively and entertaining New Dutch Academy (NDA) Chamber Soloists. The NDA Chamber Soloists have been called the "hottest property on the European baroque scene", playing "18th century Rock and Roll".

With an interactive program especially designed for kids aged 5+, your family will discover why this music has been enjoyed for centuries!

About the NDA Chamber Soloists

The New Dutch Academy is an international award winning ensemble specialising in early music, performing on period instruments. Established in 2002, the NDA is known for its engaging and dynamic performances and particularly for bringing newly re-discovered 18th century works onto the concert platform. The NDA is based in The Hague, The Netherlands.

The NDA is led by the group's founding artistic director Australian-Dutch conductor-violist Simon Murphy. Mr Murphy, branded "the repertoire refresher" by the European music press, is known for his engaging performance style and innovative programming, delivering exciting new perspectives on 18th century music.

Supported by

For their Hong Kong debut, the NDA will bring a seven piece ensemble including soprano, recorder/oboe, violins, viola, cello and lute/baroque guitar. Their PLAY! concert will introduce early music to young audiences and will feature music by Bach, Vivaldi and their contemporaries.

About the PLAY! Family Series

The PLAY! Family Series features special performances for young audiences. The best international and local artists deliver one hour concerts at a family friendly time, typically Sundays at 3pm, featuring a program designed to inspire kids aged 5-11. There is simply no other way except PLAY! for kids to access solo recitals and chamber music tailored specifically for their development and enjoyment.
